

Mariana COJOC

Assoc. Prof. Ph.D., Faculty of History and Political Sciences, „Ovidius” University, Constanta; Doctor, University of Bucharest, subject of doctorate thesis: Constanta–international harbour. Foreign trade of Romania through Constanta harbour (1878 – 1939); course titular of the following disciplines: International Relations in the XXth Century; Theory and practice as regards International Relations; Danube and the Black Sea: Romanian and European Policies (between XIXth-XXIst Century); Political history of Romanians (I); member of Deutssch-Rumänische Akademie, Internationales Forum Für Wissenschaften, Ethik, Theologie, Literatur und Kunst, Mainz; member of the Romanian Committee for the History and Philosophy of Science and Technics, Constanta Subcommittee, Romanian Academy; member, Editorial Board, „International Journal of Cross-Cultural Studies and Environmental Communication”. Selected Publications: The Greeks of Constanta at the End of the Nineteenth Century, in Greeks in Romania in the Nineteenth Century, Edited by: Gelina Harlaftis and Radu Păun, Athens, Alpha Bank, Historical Archives, 2013, pp. 307-348; coordinating editor Mariana Cojoc, Time for controversial histories: 1878-2008 – 130 years since the establishment of diplomatic relations between Russia and Romania, „Ovidius” University of Constanta’s Annals Series: History, Political Science, International Relations and European Studies, Security Studies, Volume 7/2010, special edition, Publishing House: Ovidius University Press, Constanta, 2011; Constanta–international port. Foreign commerce of Romania through Constanta harbour (1878-1939), vol. 114 in the Collection The Romanians in World History, Bucharest, Publishing House: Cartea Universitară, 2006.