

Dr. Irine Darchia is Associate Professor of Classics at the Ivane Javakhishvili Tbilisi State University (TSU), Georgia. She studied at the University of Athens in 1996-1997 (Modern Greek Language and Culture) and defended her doctoral thesis on Plato's Phaedo (Literature, Philosophy, Mythology, Mysticism) in 1998 and her post-doctoral thesis (Habilitation) on Colour Phenomenon in Greek Tragedy in 2005.

Dr. Irine Darchia is teaching at the Departments of Classical, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies of TSU and she was visiting professor at Freie University (Germany), Universities of Pisa and Bologna (Italy), University of Thessaloniki (Greece), Universities of Oslo and Bergen (Norway).

Dr. Irine Darchia was Deputy Head of the Institute of Classical, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies of TSU in 2000-2010 and she is Higher Education Reform Expert (HERE) of National Tempus Office (Georgia) since 2009.

Dr. Irine Darchia was Vice-Rector of TSU (2010), Member of Accreditation Council of Georgia (2008-2009), Head of Quality Assurance Department of TSU (2006-2010), Head of Quality Assurance Department of the Faculty of Humanities of TSU (2005-2006).

Dr. Irine Darchia systematically participates in international conferences, seminars, workshops, trainings, projects concerning classical and modern Greek studies, educational issues and Bologna Process: quality assurance, accreditation, curricula development, LLL etc. (Austria, Bulgaria, Croatia, Georgia, Germany, Greece, Italy, Norway, Spain, Switzerland, Turkey, USA etc.). Her research interests include literary aspects of Plato's dialogues, colour perception in antiquity, reception of ancient Greek culture in modern literature, Greek language.

Dr. Irine Darchia has studied 6 foreign languages (English, Russian, Modern Greek, Italian, Ancient Greek, Latin) and she is the author of 5 books (2 monographs, handbook, dictionary, translation). She took part in the development of Modern Greek-Georgian Dictionary.