

Biography

Lawrence Olusola Oparinde is an Agricultural Economist specializing in Agricultural Production Economics. He is an Assistant Lecturer in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics, The Federal University of Technology, Akure, Ondo State, Nigeria. Oparinde completed his first and second degree in Agricultural Economics from Ladoké Akintola University of Technology, Ogbomoso, Oyo State and The Federal University of Technology, Akure, Ondo State both in Nigeria in 2008 and 2012 respectively. Lawrence joined the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics, The Federal University of Technology, Akure, Nigeria as a Graduate/Research Assistant in 2010. He is currently on his Ph.D programme in the Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics, The Federal University of Technology, Akure, Nigeria. Olusola teaches Livestock Economics, Introduction to GIS Application in Agriculture, Agricultural Statistics and Field Experimentation, Introduction to Macroeconomic Theory and Agricultural Production Economics and Resource Use at undergraduate level. Oparinde has also attended local and international trainings and conferences. Oparinde is a member of the following professional bodies; International Institute of Fisheries Economics and Trade (IIFET), Nigerian Association of Agricultural Economists (NAAE), African Fisheries Experts Network (Afrifishnet) and Shalom Club, Israel. He has carried out studies on technology adoption, market participation, artisanal fish marketing etc. He has publications in reputable Journals and Conference Proceedings.