

Patrick Nwabueze Okechukwu (Ph.D)
(Assistant Professor)

Assistant Professor Dr. Patrick Nwabueze Okechukwu is a lecturer in the Faculty of Applied Science UCSI University Kuala Lumpur Malaysia. He graduated with B.Sc. Hons in Biotany from University of Port Harcourt River State Nigeria, M.Sc. and Ph.D. in Pharmacology from University Putra Malaysia (UPM) and National University of Kuala Lumpur (UKM) respectively. He is a member of more than six international and local professional bodies; Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB), American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics (ASPET), British Pharmacology Society (BPS), Malaysian Society of Pharmacology and Physiology (MSPP), Malaysian Natural Product Society (MNPS) and Academic member of Athens Institute of Education and Research (ATINER). He has presented more than 40 papers in conference proceeding of International and National conferences and has published over 33 articles in international peer-reviewed journal. He has gotten four (4) awards from his research works and has secured a couple of International and National grant for projects. His current research interest is in; drug discovery, functional studies, drug interaction via proteomics approach. He is a referee for about 8 journal publishers and editorial board member of 2 journal publishers and also involve in charity as he contribute monthly to WWF and Kidney Foundation Malaysia.