

Udangiu E. Eugenia, PhD: Associate Professor at the University of Craiova, Faculty of Law and Social Sciences; member of: Romanian Sociological Association, American Sociological Association;

Born on 2 March, 1959 in Craiova; educational background: 1978 - 1983, The Faculty of Mechanics; 1991-1996, The Faculty of Sociology, Psychology and Pedagogy; Ph. D. in Sociology at the Bucharest University, with the thesis Rationality and Political Action in Contemporary Social Doctrines;

Some of my publications: “Using the Constant Comparative Method (CCM) as a Teaching and Research Tool in the Foreign Classroom: Shopping as a Social Problem in Romania” (collective) in Teaching Sociology 25 (U. S. A.); “Shopping as a Social Problem: A Grounded Theoretical Analysis of Experiences Among Romanian Shoppers”(collective) in Journal of Applied Sociology 14 (U. S. A.), “A Comparative Perspective on the Methods Used by Romanian and Norwegian Priests in the Communitarian Development”, in Journal of US – China Public Administration 8; “Science, Theology and Language Games” in Romanian Perspectives on Science and Religion, Edit. Curtea veche; Knowledge and Action – the Paradoxes of Rationality, Edit. Universitaria; “The Internet, the Gossip and the Social Capital” in Romanian Journal for Communication and Public Relations.