

Dr. Orna Almog is a graduate from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and has received her Ph.D from the London School of Economics and Political Science, International History Department. She is the author of Britain, Israel and the United States 1955-58 – Beyond Suez (Frank Cass, 1993). Her main expertise is Israeli Foreign Policy: the Arab-Jewish Conflict and Conflict Resolution. Until most recently she has been a senior lecturer in Politics and International Relations at Kingston University, London UK. She took part in different research projects focusing on the International Relations in the Middle East. In 2013, Dr. Almog was also a visiting fellow at the Aegean University in Rhodes, Greece at the Department of Mediterranean Studies and later a visiting fellow at the M.A. program Mediterranean Studies, Department of Political Science and International Relations at the University of the Peloponnese, Corinth, Greece where she also participated as a guest lecturer. Dr. Almog also appears on the BBC and the ‘Voice of America’ as well as on many other international conferences. Among her other publications are “Hide and Seek – Israeli-Turkish Relations and the Bagdad Pact”, Mediterranean Eastern Studies, January 2017, Vol. 53, Issue 3. (with Aışegül Sever), and “Unlikely Relations: Israel, Romanian and the Egyptian-Israeli Peace accord, Middle Eastern Studies (June 2016 Vol. 52. Issue 6). Last but not least, Dr. Almog is also the co-author of Contemporary Israeli-Turkish Relations in Comparative Perspective, Palgrave/MacMillan 2019, and until recently served as a visiting lecturer (on line) at the Queen Mary University of London.