

Margo K. Apostolos, PhD

Director of Dance at the University of Southern California
Los Angeles, California
Associate Professor
1986-present

Co-Director of the Cedars-Sinai/USC School of Theatre Dance Medicine Center
Los Angeles, California
2007-present

PhD earned at Stanford University – Palo Alto, California
Physical Education/Dance major with a Philosophy minor
Robot Choreography

MA earned at Northwestern University – Evanston , Illinois
Dance major

BS earned at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, Illinois
Physical Education major/ Dance minor

Dr. Apostolos has been a pioneer in the development of Robot Choreography and trained numerous professional and Olympic athletes with her dance training in Dance for Sports. She founded and serves as Co-Director of a premiere Dance Medicine Center in Los Angeles. She conducts research in Biomechanics and with Motion- Capture.performance and analysis. Her dance teaching continues and she has trained numerous professional and Olympic athletes. Her research interests also include: Dance for Animators, Dance and Architecture, Dance and Poetry and other interdisciplinary projects.