

About me

By ethnicity, I am an Indian but currently doing my research at Univeristy of Warsaw, Faculty of Economic Sciences. Basically, I like exploring new vistas and avenues, striking conversations from where I can satiate my academic hunger and also experience new culture and traditions. I have no restrictions about food and love experiencing a country's traditional culinary culture and exotic traditions. I have an innate love for history and my quest never ends.