

Ms. Bineswaree (Aruna) Bolaky is an Economic Affairs Officer in the Research and Policy Analysis Branch of the Division for Africa, LDCs and Special Programmes at the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD).

She has been a co-author of the UNCTAD Least Developed Countries Report and the Economic Development in Africa Report for the past 8 years. She regularly conducts interviews with journalists and has been featured in a range of leading tv, radio and news outlets, including Voice of America, Radio France International, BBC Africa, Deutschewelle, France TV, TV5 Monde Afrique, the Financial Times, The Economist Magazine, Jeune Afrique and Le Monde. She has worked in the United Nations for more than 14 years in the areas of economic research, policy analysis and programme management.

She started her UN career with UNDP through entry in UNDP's Young Professionals Programme and shifted to the UN Secretariat through entry in the UN Young Professionals Programme. She has served in 5 duty stations so far with ECLAC, UNDP and UNCTAD in a range of regional bureaus (Arab States, Africa, Asia and the Pacific and Latin America and the Caribbean). Prior to that she was a summer intern at the International Monetary Fund and a consultant with the World Bank in Washington D.C. Her academic publications center on trade, tourism, competition law, regional integration and industrial development. She holds advanced degrees in Economics and Economics of Competition Law from the University of Cambridge, UK; Simon Fraser University, Canada; King's College, London, U.K and the University of Maryland at College park, USA, where there she specialized in international trade, development economics, industrial organization and institutional economics. She is a national of the island of Mauritius. Twitter: @arunabolaky.