

Boris Sedunov

Short biography

Born: August 12, 1940 in Siberia, Russia.

Graduated from the Moscow Institute of Physics and Technology, 1963.

PhD. In Solid State Physics, 1969.

Worked in the Zelenograd Microelectronics Scientific Center as researcher, head of department, scientific director of Space oriented Programs, 1963-1995.

Deputy rector and head of chair of Moscow Institute of Business Administration, 1996-2003.

Scientific director of the PhD. Educational Program in Myanmar, 2003-2004.

Professor of Russian New University, Moscow, 2007 - real time.

The author and scientific director of the Space observation system and its original devices.

The author of the original method for interactive computerized analysis of extra precise experimental data.

The author of the new direction of research and new discoveries in Physics of Molecular Interactions and Clusters in Real Gases.

The author of the book Discovering the Cluster World, Lambert, 2015.

The author of original ideas in Global Demography study and prognosis.

The author of many publications in International journals and reporter to many International scientific conferences.

Professor Boris Sedunov

February 12, 2016