

Short Bio

Ratna Ghosh is an Architect-Planner based in Delhi-NCR region, India. She is an alumna of two prestigious institutions, IIT Roorkee (Indian Institute of Technology) and NIT Hamirpur (National Institute of Technology). As an architect, she has worked with several reputed firms based in Delhi. Since 2016, she has been working with Amity University Noida, India as an Assistant Professor in the Architecture and Planning School. Her research interests include housing and urban studies, policy planning, rural development and ecological resilience studies.