

Dr. Joseph P. Helou

Adjunct Faculty

Lebanese American University

Beirut, Lebanon

Dr. Joseph P. Helou holds a Ph.D. in politics, M.A. in International Relations and a B.A. in Economics.

Joseph occupied a number of positions in research, academia and NGOs, in addition to the private sector.

He is an academic who teaches University courses in Political Science and International Relations. His research interests include Middle East Politics, International Relations, International Political Economy, and Group Politics (ethnic and religious groups, social movements and political parties). He firmly believes in the utility of inter-disciplinary research and expresses interest in research collaborations as well as contributing to edited volumes that match his interests.