

Assistant professor Irena Rajchinovska Pandeva, Dr. Sc. Pol.

Dr. Sc. Pol. Irena Rajchinovska Pandeva is an assistant professor at the Faculty of Law Iustinianus Primus, University Ss. Cyril and Methodius in Skopje at the Departments of political science, Journalism department and Department of public relations. Her professional experience includes teaching and research at the Departments of political science, journalism and public relations at the Faculty of Law Iustinianus Primus, University Ss. Cyril and Methodius in Skopje, as well as the Faculty for public administration at the University St. Clement Ohridski in Bitola (political science) and at the Faculty of Philosophy, University Ss. Cyril and Methodius in Skopje (gender studies). She has extensive experience in NGO activities as founding member of Institute for European integration and as program associate of ICPCR (International Center for Preventive activities and Conflict resolution). She has served as International cooperation coordinator for the Faculty of Law Iustinianus Primus for 12 years. She holds a BA in political science, MSci in political science (international relations) and a PhD in political science. She has participated in many international and national scientific projects, contributed to conferences, workshops and seminars home and abroad and had study trips in the Netherlands, Ireland, France, Turkey, USA, Norway, Italy. Her research interests include political science theory, nationalism, national identity, Europeanization, conflicts, Cyprus, Turkey, European integration, Islam. She is an author of numerous scholarly articles in relevant domestic and foreign journals and monographic editions in several languages.