

Chin-Tai Kim, Professor of Philosophy and former Chairperson of the Department of Philosophy at Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland, OH, USA, has customarily taught Ancient Greek Philosophy, Modern Philosophy from Descartes to Kant, 19th and Early 20th Century Philosophy, Phenomenology, Hermeneutics and Existentialism, Foundations of Ethics, Epistemology and Metaphysics, Comparative Philosophy, East and West, and Philosophy of Religion. He has published on subjects in most of his teaching fields. His research focus continues to be the nature, possibility and desirability of intercultural epistemic and moral norms.