

Dra. Martha Fabiola García Álvarez

Professor-Researcher at Centro Universitario de los Altos, University of Guadalajara. Doctorate in Political and Social Sciences. Master in Law with Orientation in Constitutional Law and Amparo. Law degree. Researcher in Criminology in Mexican Society of Criminology, Nuevo León Chapter. Member of the National System of Researchers, Level 1 (CONACYT). Tepatitlán de Morelos, Jalisco, Mexico.

Books

Coordinator of the book (2016) Feminine Criminology. Collection of Criminology, Criminalistics and Criminal Victimology.

Chapters

Prevention of the Delicatory Conduct of Women in Jalisco, Mexico, Criminological Science in Prevention and its Fields of application.

The Female Delinquency in Current Times and its Prevention, The Citizen Participation in Public Policies of Prevention and Security in the Municipalities of the State of Jalisco. Conacyt.

58 articles published.

Research Stays in: University of Salamanca, Basque Institute of Criminology, Spain; Education Group in Prisons, Argentina; Benemérita Autonomous University of Puebla; Autonomous University of San Luis Potosí, Autonomous University of Nuevo Leon; National Autonomous University of Mexico, Center for Research and Teaching in Humanities of the State of Morelos.

Projects

Research projects in Networks with other Research Groups, some are "Comparative Study of Sexual Offenses: Spain and Mexico"; "Migration and Criminality"; "Multidisciplinary Study of Current Problems of Delinquent Conduct: Case Studies" and "Multidisciplinary Study on Education as one of the Current Problems of the Conduct of Offenders: Case Studies", of these two results were presented in First Congress International Criminological Analysis.

Investigation groups

Academic Body "Multidisciplinary and Multifactorial Social Problems" Description:

This LGAC aims to investigate and analyze the multifactoriality of social problems with a multidisciplinary, interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approach. The impact that this problem has on society and on all social, behavioral, psychobiological, health, political, economic, quality of life, education, environmental, legal, human rights, public security, human, national and global ; As part of Sustainable Human Development, analyzing the causes of crime behavior, types of crimes and antisocial behavior, health and education of individuals, family, groups and community, among others.

Currently, agreements are being signed with some national and international educational institutions.

Distinctions

It has been advised students in research projects and presentations (Delfin program, Academic Mobility), to publish articles and attend Research Internships (Program for Early Inclusion to Research, Program of Economic Encouragement to Outstanding Students, to PRODEP Scholars) . Some acknowledgments received are: at the Women's Participation Meetings in the Science of the CIO (Mexico); International Mental Health Congresses (Buenos Aires, Argentina); MEMBER of the AMECIP Association; Member of the Organizing and Scientific Committee of the II Congress of Researchers of SNI. As National Researcher Level 1 of CONACYT. Prize with Carlos Elbert Medal 2nd. International Competition for Criminological Research 2014. Honorable Mention for the High Level in Research, University of Cadiz, Spain. Recognition of "honoris causa" Mexican Society of Criminology chapter Nuevo Leon, A.C.