

Helena Martins is an academic from the city of Porto, lecturing in both the Polytechnic of Porto and the University of Porto.

Her main research interests are the Worker-Organization relationship, Reciprocity in the Work Context, Communication for Healthcare Professionals, as well as Psychometry.

She has been teaching in Higher Education since 2008 and working with consultancy firms in training and human resources management since 2004; she is currently involved in an Action 3 Erasmus Mundus Research program – “EMIC: Erasmus Mundus Intercultural Competences”.