

SHORT BIOGRAPHY OF DR. MD. MOKLESUR RAHMAN SARKER

Dr. Md. Moklesur Rahman Sarker is an Associate Professor and Head of Pharmacology Department in the Lincoln University College Malaysia. He obtained his PhD degree major in Immunopharmacology from Okayama University Japan. He has 15 years working experiences in different academic and research institutions for different capabilities, such as, Research Fellow and Principal Investigator in the University of Malaya, Head of Pharmacy Department in Daffodil International University, Head of Research in a Pharmaceutical company, etc. His research interest include: Diabetes and Antidiabetic Drugs; Immunomodulating agents; Obesity and Anti-obesity agents; Cancer and Anticancer agents; Phytomedicines/Herbal medicines and Nutraceuticals; Research on Medicinal foods including medicinal mushrooms; Rational utilization of anti-diabetic, anticancer drugs and antibiotics; Antibiotic resistance; Sub-standard/Adulterated/Counterfeit drugs, Food adulteration and its impact on public health. He has published 35 articles in peer reviewed journals including several reputed ISI and SCOPUS cited journals. He is editorial board member and reviewer of couples of international peer reviewed journals. He is skilled in planning, development and execution of high impact research in medical and pharmaceutical sciences. He is an experienced supervisor for Post-Graduate research for Pharmaceutical Sciences. Currently he is supervising different research projects of Master of Pharmacy and PhD in Pharmacy students. He presented his research works in several international conferences and also awarded as the best poster presenter. Dr Sarker is a member of several international association related to his profession and research. He has been nominated as “Who’s Who in the World” for 2015.