

Nadim Nassif (PhD)

Dr. Nadim Nassif is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychology, Education and Physical Education, at the Faculty of Humanities in Notre-Dame University, Lebanon. He is the academic advisor of the physical education and sports major and the manager of the FIFA/CIES Sports Management program.

He has professionally and scientifically deepened his knowledge and skills in conferences, workshops, competitions and administrative work in the field of sport. His research interests encompass sport history, coaching, sport management, sports sociology, sport politics and policy, particularly the field of elite and competitive sports policy. He has participated in 17 conferences around the world and published 10 papers. He is the Communication Deputy for the International Society for Sport Sciences in the Arab World.

In Parallel to his career in academia, he is strongly involved as a coach (futsal and Mixed Martial Arts) and consultant for several Lebanese clubs, federation and for the International Mixed Martial Arts Federation.