

BIOGRAPHY

UCHECHI REX OGBUAGU is an associate Professor of Economics, a Nigerian of Abia state origin. He holds Ph.D and M.Sc degrees from the University of Calabar and a B.Sc degree from the University of Nigeria Nsukka. He worked with one of the Nigerian marketing Boards, Nigerian Palm Produce Board in the 1980s after graduation and later joined the academic staff of; The Polytechnic, Calabar which became Cross River State University of Technology in 2002. Uchechi served in the Senate of this institution for several years and was the head of Department of Mathematics/Statistics and the pioneer head of the Department of Computer Science. He left to join the senior academic staff unit of the Department of Economics, University of Calabar, Calabar in 2007. Uchechi Rex Ogbuagu belongs to the professional bodies of; Nigerian Economic Society, Nigerian Statistical Association and the African Statistical Association. He is also an Executive Counsellor of the American Institute of Management. His special areas are; statistics/quantitative methods, economics/industrial development. He has consulted for the ; Cross River State World Bank Assisted Erosion Control Project, University of Calabar Computer Centre on Statistics, University of Calabar Audit Unit on Information Technology, Calabar Community Bank on Information Technology, TEKON Systems Nig, Ltd on Economics & Statistics, Cross-River State -World Bank Forest Reserve Projects (Survey of Forest Products), Cross River State- World Bank Assisted MIS & Inventory Control for Essential Drugs. He is many years patron to; Patron, Umuahia Students Union, University of Calabar, Calabar, Igbo Students Union, University of Calabar, Calabar, National Association of Statistics Students, Cross River University of Technology, National Association of Computer Science Students, Cross River University of Technology. He is happily married to Mrs. Ime Uloma Ezioma Ogbuagu and blessed with 4 children. Uchechi has many publications to his credit.