

Sheba Akhtar - Biography

Born and raised in Karachi, Pakistan, Sheba Akhtar received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Mathematics from Bryn Mawr College in the United States, followed by a Master of Architecture degree from the University of Pennsylvania, USA. Registered as an Architect in the United Kingdom, she has practiced architecture in the United States, England, Scotland, Pakistan and Jordan. Her professional work has included architecture design as well as the restoration of ancient monuments. She has taught Art & Architecture History, Architecture Theory, as well as Architecture Design, in Pakistan and the United States, and is, at present, Assistant Professor of Architecture at Prairie View A&M University in Texas, USA. She has lectured and written extensively on art and architecture history, as well as on architectural education and practice.