

Carlos Roberto Velandia-Coustol is PhD. Student in Social Psychology at SPMS Laboratory (Burgundy University-France) and he works at the same time as psychologist in Dijon (France). His research subjects are the intergroup relationships, particularly in acculturation process. He studied psychology at Javeriana University (Bogotá-Colombia). He also had a master in clinical psychology and pathology at Caen–Lower Normandy University (Caen-France).