

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

I am a Senior Lecturer in Peace and Conflict Studies at Kisii University. I have attained my undergraduate and graduate studies in Africa, Europe and North America and wish to participate in your academic and research activities to the best of my ability. I have published widely in both local and international journals, supervised and mentored a growing number of graduate students. I am interested mainly in international politics, international political economy but more specifically in the influence of hegemony on trans-boundary natural resource management.
