

Brief Biography of Zhang Ying

Dr. Zhang Ying is a professor of forest economics at School of Economics and Management, Beijing Forestry University, an affiliate professor in Colorado State University, and an editorial board member of the International Journal of Green economy (IJGE) at Oxford University. He got a PhD from Beijing Forestry University in 1999, and studied as a post-doc. in Korea University in 2000. In 2003, he was a visiting professor in forest economics, Taiwan University of Taipei, Taiwan. In 2007-2008, he was a Fulbright visiting professor at Yale University, USA. In 2014-2015, he was a visiting professor in Giessen University supported by DAAD, Germany. His major is forest economics, and over 160 papers and 35 books by a sole author and co-authors have been published in this field and 6 national and international awards have been earned from 1999 to 2014.