Prof. Dr Zoran Bojkovic, Life Senior Member IEEE, is Full Professor of electrical engineering, University of Belgrade, Serbia, and Full Member of Engineering Academy of Serbia. Also, he is a permanent visiting professor at the University of Texas at Arlington, TX, USA; EE Department, Multimedia Systems Lab. He was a visiting researcher at Stanford University, Stanford, CA, USA, Information System Lab., hosted by Prof. Robert M. Gray.

His areas of expertise are: digital multimedia signal processing (audio, image, video), data compression by various techniques, wire/wireless multimedia communications and computers networks. He was and still is a visiting professor worldwide (universities and institutes in 25 countries). He has taught a number of courses, seminars, tutorials, keynote/plenary/ invited lectures and speeches at international conferences. Also, he is the co-author of 7 international books, published by Prentice -Hall, Wiley, CRC Press Taylor & Francis Group......and translated in China, Singapore, India, Canada. He is co-editor in 77 international books, conference proceedings and has published more than 450 papers in peer-reviewed journals and conferences proceedings. He participated in more than 70 scientific research and industrial projects all over the world and has been consultant to industry, research institutes and academia. The European Commission Service identify his profile a good match for specific expertise requirements. His activities included serving as Editor-in- Chief for 5 International Journals, Associate Editor for 4, as well as Guest Editor for the Special Issue in one International Journal.